EDMONTON MEN ON THE FIRING LINE TELL OF EXPERIENCES

FINDS GRAVES OF MEMBERS OF 49TH

Frederick W. J. Hutchinson, of the Coldstream Guards, has written to H. A. Whitehouse, artist of the Hiram May Co., telling of his experiences at the front. While traveling in France where in France he came across a small graveyard in which had been buried two of the 49th Battalion of Edmonton. Upon the crosses above the graves he noticed the numbers and names of 42288 Sergt. Bowley, J. W., and 42219 Pte. Williams, T.

DESCRIBES GREAT BOMBARDMENT

"We moved down to the trenches one day and went into it the next. You talk about a second hell. Shell and mine going up. Some places there was no trench at all as they would knock it down as fast as you could build it up. But they were getting it worse than we were. Our artillery put them over like a roll of thunder. We were detaching and fusing bombs and carrying them up. Talk about putting the fear of God in a man. It was nothing to see some of the big rough fellows sit down and cry." Such is part of the vivid description of war somewhere in France as described by Frank Buchanan in a letter dated May 14th to his brother, W. Buchanan of 404 1/2 Ave. N.E., Edmonton, Alberta. Continuing, he says:

"When we took over a new piece of line from the Imperials, some of them said they hoped we would hold the line as a big attack was expected. They found out that that was not our own. One of our sergeants got mad at an over-enthusiastic Imperial officer and asked him if he thought we were a bunch of cowards. But some of them are jokers as the first division got the prize for breaking the German line when they tried to break through at Vimur a year ago. They were there again. I have spoken to a lot of old Imperial men who were there last year and they say that the first contingent did not get any more praise than was coming to them. They call the 10th Battalion the White Devils."

"Well, I was taken ill with a bad headache. It grew worse. The doctor sent me to the transport line where I lay in a tent for three days. I was sent to No. 7 hospital in a special car. I was sure looked after well. I was under chloroform for the days running. The doctor inoculated me to kill the germs of this disease. I got over mine in two weeks. I have been able to walk a little and can eat like a horse but they feed me up well."

"I have been here at No. 14 stationary hospital at Boulogne, France, right on the beach, but in an isolation compound. There is no catching and we have to stay here till we are cured before going to the convalescent homes in England for two weeks or two months. I am getting on well but my back is a awful weak yet. There are eleven of us here, but the time is long for we can't go outside the wire compound and can't mix with anyone else. Remember me to all my friends there."

GET STEEL HELMETS SHRAPNEL PROOF

"I'm having a fine time here," (somewhere in France), writes A. J. Trank, who has a brother living at Beaver Lodge, Peace River country. "When we are out we wear gas helmets and during the day we sleep in dugouts we have lots of warm clothing. We wear long rubber boots when we are on a muddy job such as digging trenches. We have lost our steel helmets which they say are shrapnel proof. We get cigarettes and tobacco twice a week and a lot of rum in winter, which I don't like. In summer we are to get time juice instead of rum." Young Trank is in the 25th Battalion when he was attending high school in York, Ont. He was a year ago and he was then only 17. He has since been transferred to the 25th.

TELLS OF LIFE OF SHORNCLIFFE

A very interesting letter written from Shorncliffe, England, by Sergt. Major E. Finnigan of the 14th of Calgary, was received this week by Sergt. Major Watts, who has been in charge of the recruiting of the 21st American Legion in the city. The smart discipline and order of Canadian soldiers are subjected to on their arrival in England and are not so strict for the many trials ahead of them from the very well described in the letter as well as the brotherly life of the boys while at Shorncliffe. By the courtesy of Sergt. Major Watts the letter is published as follows: D. Company, 14th Battalion, 4th Division, Shorncliffe, England, May 17th, '16. Dear Watts, Just a line to say that I received your letter and pleased to hear you are making out good with the 21st American Legion. There seems to be nothing but smiles and good about the 25th. We were supposed to have left Halifax on the 25th, but we only sailed up stream for a week till the first of June. We were on the Baltic, besides which were the Adriatic and the Aegean. We were not on a troop ship and the personnel was second class.

We left April 1st at 4 p.m., and arrived in Liverpool on Sunday the 4th, about 2 p.m. We had time of making on board while coming over owing to which we were the last ship to disembark at midnight. We arrived at Shorncliffe at noon the next day. The weather was very bad for a while and there was about 200 under the doctor, as we were in canvas and some of us had no ground sheets. I put a week in the hospital and then had a week's leave but in the meantime the battalion moved out of the tents just over to the top of the hill, taking over the jobs that the 15th Reserve had.

They are now attached to the 5th Battalion Reserve. Well, the battalion (about 100 men) and A and B company boys went out on the range, the left parties being supplied from C and D company. You get up at 4 o'clock in the morning, have breakfast and march out to the range at 11:30, seven miles away, in marching order. Shorncliffe starts at 6 a.m. Sunday as well, rain or shine. 'Oh, it's lovely."

One day shortly after our move to the huts they called for a draft of 254 men, no N.C.O.'s, to go to Broomfield to the 50th Battalion. This left to C and D boys, and they clean ed out in a hurry. The day previous to their departure they wanted certain tradesmen from the Engineers, so they were transported in a hurry. They are very strict here. You cannot board a train but what they see your pass. All the officers and non-coms are taking courses, mostly by electricity, physical training, bayonet, sniping, bombing or trench work. We have not got an officer left in D company; they got three months' school somewhere.

The 3rd are here and the 4th are expected soon. They centrally use Calgary troops for Calgary regiments or falling that Alberta regiments. I suppose you know that there are many of the first of the Calgary left. The 50th Battalion, Col. Mason in charge, is in the 4th Division, so they will soon be at the front. Only one midnight pass a week is issued and it must be on Saturday night. You get free transportation on your first pass. There are no lights at night and we march with rifles around other looking for the Zeppelins. They have us up and going often for 1 1/2 hours a day, almost, and then the rest of your time is your own. There is no chance of us getting to the front for a while yet.

REVENUE SHOWS GOOD INCREASE

Financial Statement of Dominion For May is of Gratifying Nature

OTTAWA, June 8.—The financial statement of the Dominion for May shows a gratifying increase of revenue with expenditures, apart from the war, remaining about stationary. Revenue for the month totalled $1,437,707, an increase of a little over six millions, as compared with May of last year, for the first two months of the present fiscal year the revenue has been $11,717,164, or twelve millions more than for the corresponding period of last year. Increased importations and increasing customs revenue account for the jump in revenue. During May customs revenue increased by a little over five million dollars and for the two months the increase has been nearly six million dollars. Post office and excise revenue also show small increases.

War expenditure for May totalled $1,891,848, although the amount expended for the month, which were expended for them only. The actual monthly expenditure is now averaging about twenty million dollars per month. The net national debt at the end of May was $17,314,496, as compared with $17,117,430 at the end of May last year.

Production and Price

Do the great variety of Sixes and the fluctuating prices seem confusing and perplexing?

Let's reason it out.

What controls price? Production.

As a manufacturer's production increases, his production cost, per car, decreases.

Therefore the plant with the largest production is in a position to give more of everything and charge less for it.

We are the world's largest producers of Six and Four Cylinder Automobiles.

Consequently you get in the Overland Six a larger and more powerful motor—a longer wheelbase—the convenience of electric control buttons on the steering column and an almost endless list of other comforts and refinements.

—yet what is the price?

Not $1700 or $1850 but $1600.

And when it comes to a Six Cylinder performance, remember the Overland Six is the star of them all.

One ride will convince you.

3 LASKY STARS FEATURED IN MONARCH FILMS

Victor Moore, Anita King and Blanche Sweet Are Headliners at Monarch

The credit of being the first woman to ever cross the American continent in an automobile absolutely alone belongs to Anita King, the Paramount girl, who will be seen at the Monarch theatre the first three days next week in "The Race," supporting Victor Moore, the famous comedian, who will be remembered for his work in the "Chimney Corner" series at the Monarch. This is a thrilling photoplay, founded upon Miss King's recent transcontinental automobile trip.

Anita King decided to attempt this trip during her vacation last summer. Starting from Los Angeles, she clipped five minutes from the eighteen hour automobile record between that city and San Francisco. Leaving San Francisco she started on her long transcontinental trip. Absolutely alone. It took her forty-nine days to complete the trip—twenty-nine of these days it rained continuously. She finally arrived in New York city and was welcomed by May Mitchell of that city.

For the first time in several photodramas, Blanche Sweet has an opportunity to display several of her beautiful features in the June 1. Lasky production of "The Jewels," which will be seen at the Monarch the last three days next week.

This story of Russian political intrigue, founded upon Henry Seton Merriman's novel of the same name, was written especially for Miss Sweet by Marion Fairfax and produced under the personal direction of William C. DeMille. As the Russian princess, Mabel Van Buren will also have an opportunity to display some recent additions to her famous wardrobe. One of the most spectacular scenes will be the brilliant ball in the Russian court. A special customer was

Six of the fashion show models, who form an important part of the performance of "Nobody Home," the musical comedy which comes to the Empire Theatre, Monday, June 12th, for a three nights' engagement.

MODERN SLANGUISTS ARE NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR THE FAMILIAR TERM "NOBODY HOME"

Expression Originally Used by Alexander Pope—Dickens Also Made Good Use of It—Has Become More or Less Popular During the Last Year.

After all there is nothing new under the sun, and we are not half as original as we think we are—even if our slang is quoted as quite the latest and original thing all over the world. The latest to distinguish in the fact that the expression "Nobody Home" does not belong to us, is not our own creation, but was originally coined upon an unassuming poet, no less than two hundred years ago. In fact, from its association it is a cliché.

The expression was originally used by Alexander Pope, translator of the "Iliad" and author of the "Essay on Criticism," who died in 1744. It did not pass with its originator, as forty years later the expression of Pope was in use and paraphrased by William Swapper, who died in 1846. The paraphrase reads:

"You best your pate and fancy will knock as you please, there's nobody home."

Still later, Charles Dickens made use of the expression in his tale where the vicious schoolmaster Squeers, describing the poor unfortunate "Smike" to a visitor, significantly taps his forehead and says "Nobody Home, no matter how hard you knock."

Since that time the expression has been in frequent use, but of late more so than ever, and always in indelicate sense, however, has done so much to familiarize the use in America as its application to the title of John F. Squire's new musical comedy "Nobody Home," which is to be seen at the Empire theatre the first half of next week. In this instance it refers to an Englishman of the "silly awe" type who blunders into an awkward situation and gets a lady in a very embarrassing position and who eventually turns out—but then that would be telling another story, which is much better seen and heard, than read.

brought to America to design the 300 costumes. Miss Sweet is supported by Thomas Melmoth, Theodore Roberts, Mabel Van Buren, H. B. Carpenter, Ernest Joy and other prominent members of the Lasky company.

SALARIES $82,000 PER WEEK

The reception accorded the first three free plays exhibited at the model Triangle theatres in New York, Chicago and Philadelphia, has acted as an aesthetic stimulant to the entire Thomas H. Lasky organization. "The Iron Strain," "The Coward" and "The Green Men," which are regarded as high average efforts of the the Lasky organization, are only modest "samples" of the great productions that are to follow. The free play is virtually seething with activity and every number of the company is inspired and stimulated with the spirit of the business and greatness of the Triangle plan and idea. As an indication of just what the Lasky companies under free are doing, the salaries of the stars alone now engaged and working on coming plays amount to $82,000 weekly. This figure does not include the salaries being paid to members of the regular stock companies. Some of the high-salaried stars now at Incubate are Billie Burke, H. B. Warner, Mary Boland and Frank Keenan, besides many others.

CHAMPION OF WORLD IS HEADLINER

George N. Brown, Great Heel and Too Walker, is Panegas Feature Attraction

In the headline position at the Panegas theatre next week there will be a world champion in the realm of sport. This man is not a hunchback, nor a he a super-titan, but he is the real article who is always ready to meet his conqueror in his particular class of sport. This champion is not one of the losing of the wrestling world; he is George N. Brown, the champion heel and too of the world. When this is said, it means that Brown has lost four out of 137 races that have been specially matched, and these four were made under such handicaps that it was hardly possible for him to win. He comes to the Panegas next week, as planned by Willie Weston, a relative of the veteran Weston, and the big world-walking champion. On the vaudeville stage, this man is able to present a unique novelty that is both instructive and entertaining. Wherever they have appeared, they have fairly treated a sensation, so out of the ordinary, in their work behind the footlights. Brown is a fine young specimen of manhood, being of perfect build and handsome appearance. He is always ready for a race, either short or long distance. In addition to his regular vaudeville act, he will give at each performance next week many valuable hints on perfect health and walking as an exercise.

Another big feature for this autumn program is "The Midnight Follies," a musical comedy, direct from New York, where it was produced by George Chon, the promoter of many successful "Midi" acts. This extravaganza is introduced after the famous "Midnight Frolic," which is also the New Amsterdam theatre in New York City. The main features about this attractive offering are the pretty girls, the elaborate setting and costumes, the good comedy, and excellent singing and dancing.

Arthur Miller and Rosa North are two Edinburg favorites who return next week with "Midnight Follies," a comedy act. The four Hibernians are a quartet of dainty girls who will be sent out to a comedy act by William de Wolfe and Company, having come to the "Admiral's" theatre. The latest chapter of "The Iron Claw" serial is entitled "The Haunted Canvas."

"NOBODY HOME" WILL

If you want to laugh, sing, dance and have your blood tingles with joy and happiness, the place to go on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next week is the Empire Theatre, where John P. Slocum brings to this city for the first time the season's great musical comedy, "Nobody Home." This smart piece has struck a new note in musical comedy and gives us hope for the things along those lines that will be welcome. The book is collaboration of Guy Bolton and Paul Rubens and the music by Jerome Kern. All three have succeeded in creating novelty and as a consequence, their production is an immense success. It stayed almost an entire season last year in New York at the Princess and Maxine 52, both theatres.

"Nobody Home" is one of those exceptional properties that could be played with or without music and still score a hit. The story is there and can be traced to the end of the play. The dancing numbers are said to be the very best work in Terpsichorean effect and the songs are a dream of harmony and syncopated beat. The most valuable numbers are "Tied, Tied, Tied," "Any More," "In Arcady," "You Can't Take a Hand," "A Hand," "Another Little Girl" and "The Magic Triangle."

On Monday night the Shriners of the city will attend the performance to pay their respects to Charles McNaughton, one of the stars, who is a brother Shriner. On Wednesday afternoon there will be a matinee at 2:30.

"MADE DURE IN WOOD SYMPHONY" Marie Dure has been quite carried away by the charm of the wild while engaged in enacting the part of Daphne in "The Wood Sympathy." This difficult-thing production was filmed at Pine Creek, California, which is in the heart of a great forest. As Marie became a wood nymph in pill as she may be seen from what she says she did while on this trip. "The woods are too wonderful, especially at twilight. I used to run or by myself after the day's work and stay until the sun had gone down. I'd dance all alone or bathe in a lovely pool I found. "One evening I was coming through the moonlight—it was only half a mile from camp, and I decided not to miss the loveliness of a walk through the woods—and I met a hermit. He looked me all over carefully said I was the first woman he had seen in a long time, and then asked me—what do you think?—if I knew where he could get a collar button. I had to laugh, and promised him I'd find him one. I was passing on when he hurried back and told me he'd like to marry me. He said he liked my looks. He lived in a tree, he said, and I must admit it seemed as if I'd been making a mistake, but I'd decided, anyway, saying I had made one, particularly."

SELECT MEDICINE CAREFULLY

Digestive are dangerous. They grip, cause burning pains and make the constipated condition worse. Physicians say the most ideal laxative is Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Man-drake and Senna. They are exceedingly mild, composed only of health-giving vegetable extracts. Dr. Hamilton's Pills are active in the bowels, strengthen the stomach, and purify the blood. For constipation, sick headache, biliousness, and disordered digestion no medicine on earth unites such remarkable cure as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Try a 25c box, you'll thank me.

SHRINERS WILL HONOR STAR OF MUSICAL COMEDY

Local Members of Lodge to Attend "Nobody Home" Monday Night

The Shriners of Edinburg will attend the opening performance of "Nobody Home" next Monday night at the Empire theatre in honor of Charles McNaughton, the famous comedian who will be remembered for his work in "The Spring Maid" with Miss Hagan a few years ago. For the last week the Shriners have been selling tickets in wholesale lots to their friends, relatives and chance acquaintances, and as a result there should be a capacity audience at the performance of "Nobody Home" next Monday night.

On one previous occasion during the last season the Shriners undertook to "sell out the house." That was the week "Under Cover" was presented by the Empire Players. Everybody who attended that memorable performance will recall how crowded the theatre was on that occasion. This will probably be the last big gathering of Shriners before the departure of the local members of that organization for Buffalo where the big convention of the order will be held next month.

The fact that both Mr. McNaughton and John P. Slocum are Shriners will add considerably to the interest of the evening, especially the first act. Mr. Slocum has a Shriners in his past. He is an ardent admirer of the "Nobody Home" he will leave for England to join the army. It was with considerable difficulty that Mr. Slocum induced him to complete his present tour in the musical comedy in which he has created one of the most amusing types that has ever entered the theatrical-speaking stage.

"STARS SNAPPED IN GROUP" Travels are recently assembled in Los Angeles for a picture. The party included Eddie Egan, Bill Marx, Hal Roach, Wolf Lopez, Ray Gray, Frank Campbell, Irvin Johnson, Douglas Fairbanks and W. Christy Cabanne. Some of the productions in which these stars are appearing are "The Navy Lark," "The Soldier's Heart," "The Politician" and "Double Trouble."

DARING FEAT IN MOTION PICTURE

Spectacular Feat Will be Shown at Empire Theatre Next Week

What is undoubtedly the most thrilling and daring feat ever done in motion pictures appears in the Keystone comedy at the Empire theatre Monday and Tuesday, a part of the "Triangle" program that comes to this popular house twice a week instead of only once. "Tide-Heads" and "Tiding Head" is the title of the film, and in it is pictured the dynamism of a brick smelter, a 200 feet high, to which a crowd of hundreds of people gathered from Los Angeles to witness the feat. The big stack is situated there for 100-150 feet and was recently purchased by the Keystone film company for use in a big production. One hundred pounds of dynamite were planted at the base of the stack. The crew stood above on its very top, while the film captured below glowing over his opportunity for revenge. Suddenly the stack struck a match and lit the fuse, which set off the charge. Not the heroism, realized that her suggestion was to become the victim of her rejected sister, and hatched over the scene in a speedy airplane. As instant before the explosion she headed for the chimney, dropping a nap as she flew. The hero grabbed the rope, and with a triumphant cheer that happy pair dashed on to their safety.

BUSINESS MEN SAY THAT THERE IS NO REASON FOR PESSIMISM: CONDITIONS ARE VERY GOOD

Retail Merchants Are All Optimistic—Departure of Soldiers Will Not Do Serious Injury to General Business—Trade Conditions Very Much Improved Over Corresponding Months of Last Year—What Some of the Heads of Big Stores Say.

There has been so much street talk about the money panic and the departure of the soldiers for Europe and how it would affect the business men of the city that The Bulletin decided to obtain the views of some of the leading retail merchants upon the question. "Contrary to general opinion, there was not one note of pessimism uttered at any of the places visited. In fact all the merchants were very pleased with business conditions. They found that though the coming summer's business would be in excess of last year's, it was all stated that the spring business had been better than for several years and one merchant in his enthusiastic remarks said: "The Bulletin is a very good look over his monthly summary, comparing it with the corresponding months of the previous year. Every month since January has shown a steady growing increase. The summary for the month of May showed an increase of $12,000 over that of May, 1915."

A Mental Condition.—As one prominent merchant put it: "A financial panic is a mental condition and rarely is backed up by actual conditions. In business men, financially, are in better condition than they have been at any time since the war started. There is more money in the country than ever before. There is no poverty and no one out of employment. Canadian soldiers are the last paid soldiers in the world and of the thousands that have come away from Edmonton in very large percentages of them have wives and families living here and they spend their money here. The loss of the 'soldier trade' will affect the restaurant, amusement places and that sort of business, but the staple retail trade will not be affected to any great extent. After all the soldiers that returned in the clothing store, the shoe store for their own things."

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS OF SALESMANSHIP

(Copyright, 1915, by Frank Crane.)

Being time ago I wrote an article on "Salesmanship" in a Canadian "Standard." I have received many requests from business houses to republish this article, and I have decided to rewrite it, make it more concise, and cast it in the form of Ten Commandments.

It is so in mind that these commandments are supposed to come from the consumer, and not from the sales expert. If you want to sell me, I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

1. Be agreeable. Other things being equal, I go to the store where the clerk is the most agreeable. I buy clothes, typewriters, and automobiles of the man who asks me how I like them.

2. Be prompt. I want to see you as soon as possible. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

3. Be clean. I want to see you in a clean, neat, and comfortable place. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

4. Be honest. I want to see you in a place where you are honest. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

5. Be fair. I want to see you in a place where you are fair. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

6. Be courteous. I want to see you in a place where you are courteous. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

7. Be efficient. I want to see you in a place where you are efficient. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

8. Be reliable. I want to see you in a place where you are reliable. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

9. Be consistent. I want to see you in a place where you are consistent. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

10. Be successful. I want to see you in a place where you are successful. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

11. Be satisfied. I want to see you in a place where you are satisfied. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

12. Be happy. I want to see you in a place where you are happy. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

13. Be healthy. I want to see you in a place where you are healthy. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

14. Be strong. I want to see you in a place where you are strong. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

15. Be brave. I want to see you in a place where you are brave. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

16. Be wise. I want to see you in a place where you are wise. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

17. Be kind. I want to see you in a place where you are kind. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

18. Be gentle. I want to see you in a place where you are gentle. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

19. Be patient. I want to see you in a place where you are patient. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

20. Be merciful. I want to see you in a place where you are merciful. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

21. Be humble. I want to see you in a place where you are humble. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

22. Be meek. I want to see you in a place where you are meek. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

23. Be lowly. I want to see you in a place where you are lowly. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

24. Be gentle. I want to see you in a place where you are gentle. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

25. Be kind. I want to see you in a place where you are kind. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

26. Be gentle. I want to see you in a place where you are gentle. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

27. Be kind. I want to see you in a place where you are kind. I will give you my money, and I will pay you to keep these commandments.

Don't Trade Report Quite Optimistic—Oatmeal Feels Better For Future

NEW YORK, June 9.—Despatches to Don's Review, from branch offices in the Dominion of Canada, indicate that trade conditions continue generally satisfactory and that distribution of seasonable merchandise shows considerable activity at this time.

Montreal reports a well maintained demand for dry goods, footwear, clothing, groceries and other staple commodities for immediate use, and that orders for fall delivery are being placed in considerable numbers.

At Toronto, where the market is a rule is busy, and with labor fairly plentiful, the demand for a large amount of money is in circulation, and the people are spending freely for their requirements.

Business at Quebec, in both wholesale and retail lines, is in very active condition, and merchants regard present conditions and future prospects as extremely favorable. Notable activity prevails in many departments of trade at Toronto, more noticeable weather stimulating the movement of numerous lines, and high prices having little apparent effect on demand. Practically all the leading industries are active.

At Winnipeg, reports a substantial volume of business, most particularly with a steady trend toward improvements in the dry goods, groceries, notions, clothing, shoes, and other staple commodities.

Considerable activity now prevails in Calgary, where the spring and summer business resulting in a large volume of orders for fall delivery and creating much confidence.

Wholesalers at Regina report a steady volume of business, and that prevailing conditions are noted by reports from the various branches.

Conditions in Edmonton manifest among merchants at St. John's, where the demand for staple commodities is noted, and the general business is reported to be in a very active condition.

Trade conditions at all points are reported to be in a very active condition, and the general business is reported to be in a very active condition.

At Vancouver, conditions compared with the rest of the year, and though sales in some lines have been somewhat restricted by the weather.

These earnings of all Canadian railroads reporting to date for May show an increase of 22.5 per cent. compared with the earnings of the same time for the corresponding month of the year ago.

Commercial failures in the Dominion this week were 27, as against 34 last week, and the same number of failures in the same time of the year.

WINTER WHEAT GOT THROUGH ALL RIGHT

Canada's first 1916 crop report is the end of April, which protected the young plants from the spring frosts, the fall wheat is reported as being in exceptionally good condition at the end of April. In Ontario, where 125,000 acres were sown in winter wheat, not more than 5.6 per cent. is reported as having been killed, with 286,000 acres estimated as being in good condition. In Ontario, the proportion of winter wheat planted at 4.5 per cent. These proportions are greater than in any year on record for these provinces. In the percentage of winter wheat planted in Ontario and 15.6 in Alberta, 14.1 in Saskatchewan, 10.1 in Manitoba, and 6.1 in Alberta. The area wintered 71,000 acres in Ontario, 14,800 acres in Alberta last year. The area of fall wheat to be harvested this year is placed at 774,000 acres in Ontario, 247,000 acres in Alberta, 440,000 acres in Saskatchewan, 100 acres in British Columbia, being a total for the Dominion of 1,461,000 acres as against 1,288,700 acres in 1915 and 718,500 acres in 1914.
